Brief description of structure and objectives of assistance program(s), including public health or negative economic impact experienced	DCYF intends to work with Providers to offer a $750.00 sign-on bonus contingent upon completion of 90-days of employment. The goal is to offer incentives to increase applications among potential employees in hopes that Providers will be able to decrease the current staffing shortage within the industry.
Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	A comparison of DCYF placement capacity from March 2020 of 343, to a capacity of 240 in October 2021, showed a reduction in available beds by 103, a 30% reduction, often attributed to the critical staffing situation felt among providers.
If aid is provided to industries other than travel, tourism, and hospitality, please describe if the industry experienced at least 8 percent employment loss from pre-pandemic levels, or the industry is experiencing comparable or worse economic impacts as the national tourism, travel, and hospitality industries as of the date of the Final Rule, and rationale for providing aide to the industry	To qualify as a project under Negative Economic Impact: Aid to Other Industries, U.S. Treasury's final rule outlines that an industry had to experience at least an 8% employment loss or loss equal to or worse than the impact on the tourism industry in the state or territory. U.S. Treasury recommends a three-month average of seasonally adjusted employment data from December 2019 through February 2020 with a three-month average of seasonally adjusted employment data from September 2021 through November 2021 to calculate this percentage. DCYF administered a survey in October 2021 that demonstrated the staffing crisis relative to pre-pandemic levels. In March 2020, providers reported 183 vacancies in comparison to 350 vacancies in October 2021, an increase of 91% and comprises over 25% of the total full-time equivalent (FTE) employees reported. The survey captured a representative sample of providers from the industry, and the identified loss exceeds the amount needed to qualify under this category of Negative Economic Impact. Additionally, a comparison of DCYF placement capacity from March 2020 of 343, to a capacity of 240 in October 2021, showed a reduction in available beds by 103, a 30% reduction, often attributed to the critical staffing situation felt among providers.

Immediate steps are absolutely necessary to address the Provider staffing and supports required by these youth. Often the treatment at group homes for some of the individual youth in the department's care, and youth with complex mental health conditions will have to be discharged from congregate care, against court orders, with no appropriate options for them. Furthermore, in addition to the department having few options for caring for some of the abused, neglected, and traumatized youth who cannot go to a foster home, children are remaining in psychiatric hospitals past medical necessity, or they are being placed at out-of-state facilities at a greater cost, which makes maintaining family connections and achieving reunification significantly more difficult.

Project Name: Child Care Retention Bonuses

Project Identification Number	10001
Project Expenditure Category	2-Negative Economic Impacts
Project Expenditure Subcategory	2.36-Aid to Other Impacted Industries
Status To Completion	Completed less than 50%
Adopted Budget	$18,700,000.00
Total Cumulative Obligations	$18,700,000.00
Total Cumulative Expenditures	$9,350,000.05
Current Period Obligations	$18,700,000.00
Current Period Expenditures	$9,350,000.05
Project Description	This project is a new investment designed to meet critical needs in Rhode Island's child care sector. The project will provide Pandemic Retention Bonuses to eligible child care educators to promote the attraction and retention of essential workers and ensure that programs can serve at their maximum licensed capacity. $18.7M shall be allocated to distribute $1,500 semiannual retention bonuses for full- and part-time educators at child care centers and licensed family providers in response to pandemic-related staffing shortages; grant recipients will be eligible to receive $3,000 total annually. National and local research both suggest that wage supplements are highly effective at retaining incumbent workforce. The primary metric of success for this program is the number of providers remaining in the field for 1 year, as measured by the number of grant recipients receiving both semiannual grants.

What Impacted and/or Disproportionally Impacted population does this project primarily serve?	13 Imp Industry outside the travel tourism or hospitality sectors specify
Brief description of structure and objectives of assistance program(s), including public health or negative economic impact experienced	Child care providers cannot open to full capacity because they are facing a workforce shortage for new hires and are having trouble retaining existing staff. Program owners recognize that the staffing crisis is largely due to low wages, but are still unable to increase staff wages.
Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	By receiving Pandemic Retention Bonuses, educators that are eligible to receive both bonuses will persist in the field for a full year, therefore promoting medium-term stability of the child care sector.
If aid is provided to industries other than travel, tourism, and hospitality, please describe if the industry experienced at least 8 percent employment loss from pre-pandemic levels, or the industry is experiencing comparable or worse economic impacts as the national tourism, travel, and hospitality industries as of the date of the Final Rule, and rationale for providing aide to the industry	According to the Quarterly Census of Employment and Wages, the child day care services industry in Rhode Island experienced a 14.9% employment loss from the first quarter of 2020 as compared to the most recent quarter available from the Bureau of Labor Statistics (the second quarter of 2021). Nationally, the child day care services industry had an average employment loss of 9.8% from early 2020 compared to fall of 2021. Additionally, 78% of respondents to a nationwide National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC) survey identified low wages as the main obstacle to recruiting educators, while 81% said they are a key reason that educators leave.

The financial incentives are designed to ensure all children are up to date with the full array of essential, preventive healthcare services, including developmental, psychosocial, and behavioral screenings, by overcoming COVID-19 related barriers to access. This project provides payments to primary care providers to overcome barriers related to COVID-19 related delayed care and enhance their efforts to conduct screenings.
Brief description of recipient's approach to ensuring that response is reasonable and proportional to a public health or negative economic impact of Covid-19	This project pays providers according to the share of Medicaid-covered children in their care, to remediate the impact of interruptions in access, combined with the negative effects of the pandemic on child development and mental health.

	U.S. Treasury’s final rule established a three-part framework for recipients seeking to use SFRF funds for premium pay. First, to receive premium pay one must be an eligible worker. Second, an eligible worker must also perform essential work. Finally, premium pay must respond to workers performing essential work during the COVID–19 public health emergency. The American Rescue Plan Act defines “eligible workers” as “those workers needed to maintain continuity of operations of essential critical infrastructure sectors and additional sectors as each . . .

Purpose of Funds	[government] may designate as critical to protect the health and wellbeing of [its] residents.”The direct care staff identified by DCYF provide congregate care, foster care, and home- and community-based support services for children, youth, and families in Rhode Island. Direct care staff are those who assist the youth and families with everyday tasks and give specialized services to the youth. This includes, but is not limited to all direct staff, including caseworkers, direct care staff at different levels, program director, program management, program workers, medical and nursing personnel, and, if any, education program staff. The clinical staff would also include clinicians and social workers. The Final Rule defines “essential work” as work that is “(1) not performed while teleworking from a residence and (2) involves either (i) regular, in-person interactions with patients, the public, or coworkers of the individual

Purpose of Funds	U.S. Treasury’s final rule established a three-part framework for recipients seeking to use SFRF funds for premium pay. First, to receive premium pay one must be an eligible worker. Second, an eligible worker must also perform essential work. Finally, premium pay must respond to workers performing essential work during the COVID–19 public health emergency. The American Rescue Plan Act defines “eligible workers” as “those workers needed to maintain continuity of operations of essential critical infrastructure sectors and additional sectors as each . . . [government] may designate as critical to protect the health and wellbeing of [its] residents.”The direct care staff identified by DCYF provide congregate care, foster care, and home- and community-based support services for children, youth, and families in Rhode Island. Direct care staff are those who assist the youth and families with everyday tasks and give specialized services to the youth. This includes, but is not limited to all direct staff, including caseworkers, direct care staff at different levels, program director, program management, program workers, medical and nursing personnel, and, if any, education program staff. The clinical staff would also include clinicians and social workers. The Final Rule defines “essential work” as work that is “(1) not performed while teleworking from a residence and (2) involves either (i) regular, in-person interactions with patients, the public, or coworkers of the individual
